

COMSTEC Inter-Islamic Network on Virtual Universities (CINVU)

CINVU at a Glance

The COMSTEC Inter-Islamic Network on Virtual Universities (CINVU) is an international educational, research, knowledge-based, and technology network affiliated with the Ministerial Standing Committee on Scientific and Technological Cooperation of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (COMSTEC), which is hosted by the Ministry of Science, Research, and Technology of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

FLAGS OF 57 MEMBER STATES OF THE CINVU

With the idea of creating educational equity, CINVU is a base for expanding universal public education based on smart and online technology that by networking of capacities, uses the power of education, research, innovation, and technology, in line with the approach of helping to empower and advance the countries of the Islamic world.

OIC, with 57 member Islamic countries, along with observer membership from the United Nations and several non-Islamic countries, is considered the largest intergovernmental organization in the world after the United Nations, encompassing one-fourth of the world's population. This vast community has enabled CINVU, as the unique academic network of the Islamic world, to have an unparalleled position in advancing educational, research, and knowledge-based programs and strategies. CINVU was established by the approval of Article 15 of the resolution of the 14th General Assembly of the Ministerial Committee for Scientific and Technological Cooperation of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (COMSTEC) on January 13, 2011, at the initiative of a collective of Islamic countries. Additionally, the commencement of the CINVU executive team under the Secretary-Generalship of Dr. Karim Najafi Barzegar on May 22, 2018, breathed new life into this international network.

knowledge-based achievements, organizing and

Events such as the First General Assembly of CINVU

First Executive Committee of CINVU, and the Exhibition of Virtual Universities' Achievements in October 2019 hosted by Payame Noor University of Iran, the Second Executive Committee of CINVU in November 2021 hosted by Anadolu University of Turkey, the Third General Assembly of CINVU and the Third Executive Committee of CINVU in May 2022 hosted by Allama Iqbal Open University of Pakistan, and the Fourth General Assembly of CINVU, the Fourth Executive Committee of CINVU, and the Exhibition of Knowledge-Based Achievements of the Islamic World in February 2025 hosted by Payame Noor University of Iran, are considered manifestations of academic convergence in the Islamic world. These events have always been platforms for dialogue, expression of viewpoints, policy-making, and decision-making to expand academic connections and educational and research collaborations in the Islamic world.

CINVU has through planning, executing a comprehensive roadmap, and instilling hope, succeeded in bringing many universities, higher education institutions, educational and research institutes, and knowledge-based companies into the large academic family of the Islamic world.

CINVU has adopted an approach to expand education, research, and technology to empower the Islamic world, especially in underserved areas, and to address challenges with a knowledge-based approach in less known and less demanded regions in addition to implementing and following up on major projects, projects, and programs, has endeavored to network capacities, exchange achievements, create infrastructures, empower talents, standardize processes, and more, to provide the necessary conditions for advancing the growth and progress in the expanse of Islamic countries.

The distinguished role of CINVU in empowering and accelerating international educational, research, and knowledge-based activities promises a hopeful future through the implementation of these programs. Undoubtedly, this will not be the end of our work, as CINVU will continue to advance the goal of creating educational equity with more effort, innovation, and dynamism.
